OUR DIFFERENTIATOR

We Are Proudly Brine Free!!

Our female driven enterprise boasts an experienced team with business, production, marketing and abattoir management skills honed over many trading years.

Our facilities are top class, meeting the required food safety standards and requirements. We distribute to the market in a brand new cold truck and package our own products. We are confident of finding a nesting for our poultry products in national and export markets.

Among our achievements: 7-day business study visit in Denmark as an award from Technology Women in Business (T.W.I.B), raked in R20 000 from Provincial Female Farmer of the Year Awards (runners-up national markets) and Batho Pele Premier's Awards bronze winners. As a soaring reflection of the investment made into food handling and packaging, we scooped 1st prize in the category -Top Entrepreneur for Processing- in the Northern Cape's Female Entrepreneur Awards 2016.

Our Product – Health and Safety

Production; Being affiliated to the South African Poultry Association (SAPA) is indicative of the guarantee we provide to our clients by ensuring that our birds are bred under the best conditions from being received as day-old chicks. We adhere to the best prescribed standards set for small-scale broiler producers, abattoirs, poultry packaging and retailing hence we able to assert that upholding best practice is our everyday commitment.

We have access to market trends and threats that may loom at any given stage and would know how best to act or arrest disease outbreaks. Technical support is further guaranteed through the Department of Agriculture, Land Reform and Rural Development's Extension Services.

State of the art Abattoir (#9/001P) with latest automation and technology that enhances best practice in food safety serves as a key investment for both animal and human welfare.

Sales; Our packaging is a reflection of the pride we take in all facets of our enterprise. Visit our onsite store where you would meet client-friendly sales team for your preferred quantity with the best quality.
